OTHER ACTIVITIES

1. After several discussions between SIC and LAS staff members a curriculum has been agreed upon for the Moscow-Peking Axis course being offered by LAS in August. SIC felt that the original proposed schedule was quite unrealistic in its promise to provide answers to questions on Moscow - Peking relations which are so far unanswered by the intelligence community. We have agreed that it is to be a 40 - hour program primarily devoted to giving a background of Russian - Chinese relations, including as much current material as SIC can provide in the final 12 lecture hours. I am satisfied that we have arrived at a proposal which, at least from the point of what SIC will be responsible for, is much more realistic and manageable.

2. Although [ ] had serious doubts concerning the reception of his recent effort on "Soviet Group Attitudes" at the FSI Mid - Career course they were apparently unwarranted. He has received a letter from [ ] the course supervisor, commenting upon how well the presentation complemented [ ] lecture and requesting the same coverage in the August running of the course. SIC's participation in the Mid - Career course has been somewhat sporadic and I'm hoping that this will establish us there on a firmer and more continuous basis. Incidentally, [ ] was much more capable and knowledgeable than the course supervisors we have encountered in the FSI EOD course.
